

Jaclyn Doherty

Research Associate

SUGGESTED INTRODUCTION

Jaclyn Doherty serves as a research associate at Springtide, where she leads client projects and collaborates to conduct Springtide studies. Analyzing data and communicating research findings enables her to do work that bridges generational gaps and encourages empathy with young people.

Jaclyn is a PhD candidate in Social Psychology with a concentration in quantitative methods at the City University of New York's Graduate Center. Her academic research focuses on religious identity in social spaces, including relationship maintenance between people who are religiously different, communication about religious and spiritual experiences, and how these processes affect personal and relational well-being.

Jaclyn lives in Brooklyn, New York, and is an avid knitter, singer, and bird mom.
